Kennedy Signs Bill Ending Disclaimer

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy signed a bill into law last week that would end the federal government’s right to make grants or loans to any group that did not support “any organization that is illegal or unconstitutional in its aims.”

The bill, which was introduced by Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., and Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., requires all federal aid to be withdrawn from any group that discriminates against college students because they are of a particular race or because they are members of a particular religion. The law also applies to religious organizations, where discrimination against college students because of their race is illegal.

The law takes effect on July 1, 1962, and applies to all federal aid programs, including education, health, and welfare. The act is designed to ensure that all American children have access to quality education and healthcare, regardless of their race or religion.

KRT Elects Moyer, Lynch As Members

The election of two new members — Robert E. Moyer ’63 and Leonard A. Lynch ’63 — to the board of trustees has been announced.

Robert E. Moyer ’63, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, was elected to the board at its meeting Tuesday evening. He replaces the late Robert W. Miller ’54, who had served on the board for 17 years.

Leonard A. Lynch ’63, chairman of the board of directors of the cloves, Inc., was elected to the board at its meeting Tuesday evening. He replaces the late Robert W. Miller ’54, who had served on the board for 17 years.

Judson, Geologist From Princeton, To Talk on Finding New Rome

A Princeton professor whose geological knowledge is second to none will address the Lafayette College student body on Friday, April 3, at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. Dr. Robert William Judson, assistant professor of geology at Princeton University, will speak on the subject of “The Search for New Rome.”

Judson is a leader among geologists who seek to unlock the secrets of the earth. His work has been published in several scientific journals, and his findings have been accepted by the geological community.

Inside This Issue:

Lafayette College is a national leader in the field of education. What is it? Student Council president Roger Schuerman explains on page 4.

Kennedy Signs Bill Ending Disclaimer

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy signed a bill into law last week that would end the federal government’s right to make grants or loans to any group that did not support “any organization that is illegal or unconstitutional in its aims.”

The bill, which was introduced by Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., and Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., requires all federal aid to be withdrawn from any group that discriminates against college students because they are of a particular race or because they are members of a particular religion. The law also applies to religious organizations, where discrimination against college students because of their race is illegal.

The law takes effect on July 1, 1962, and applies to all federal aid programs, including education, health, and welfare. The act is designed to ensure that all American children have access to quality education and healthcare, regardless of their race or religion.

KRT Elects Moyer, Lynch As Members

The election of two new members — Robert E. Moyer ’63 and Leonard A. Lynch ’63 — to the board of trustees has been announced.

Robert E. Moyer ’63, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, was elected to the board at its meeting Tuesday evening. He replaces the late Robert W. Miller ’54, who had served on the board for 17 years.

Leonard A. Lynch ’63, chairman of the board of directors of the cloves, Inc., was elected to the board at its meeting Tuesday evening. He replaces the late Robert W. Miller ’54, who had served on the board for 17 years.

Judson, Geologist From Princeton, To Talk on Finding New Rome

A Princeton professor whose geological knowledge is second to none will address the Lafayette College student body on Friday, April 3, at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. Dr. Robert William Judson, assistant professor of geology at Princeton University, will speak on the subject of “The Search for New Rome.”

Judson is a leader among geologists who seek to unlock the secrets of the earth. His work has been published in several scientific journals, and his findings have been accepted by the geological community.

Inside This Issue:

Lafayette College is a national leader in the field of education. What is it? Student Council president Roger Schuerman explains on page 4.
There is growing student unrest over what many would call the administration’s tightening of rules and restrictions, and this unrest is certainly well-founded.

Automobile regulations have been tightened considerably, due at least in part to the difficult parking situation. But it is certainly in the interest of students to suspend a student merely for failing to register his car, as occurred last week in the case of Kenneth Bower, ‘64. A chapel attendance crackdown is now just beginning to have its effects. Local purveyors of beer and wine appear to still have the market cornered, probably because of an administration move. In the closing of locks and regulations, have made the position of the Lafayette student somewhat uneasy. The student feels, as they are, that these rules are there to be enforced and certainly should be. But it makes for an uncomfortable situation.

Football Hopes

We couldn’t help thinking at the beginning of the year that the game season was the highlight of the gridiron. The team was deep in experience, had relatively few losses, and finally had found a quarterback who could throw the ball in the person of young Geoghan, ‘66, etc. We were going places. We had the horses.

It’s now five weeks later, the season is just beginning, and the football hopes looks like defeated football — the air of spirit is gone. The fans, of course, are to be commended in its concert of Muhlenberg, but the sweet taste of victory is now a faded memory, and we believe in what accounts for the string of lopsided scores run up against the Leopards in the past few weeks.

Perhaps alumni dissatisfaction with Mr. McCon-}

Part of this communication is that Lemonade finds itself to be one of the most important instruments of growth in the life-dialogue Dialogue is for him communication at a personal level. It involves talking to others, with an attitude of receptivity, and just tolerance, for their ideas. In this way we can learn about others. Through others we can understand our time, and, by expressing ourselves to them, we can see how we relate to our society.

As Lemonade sees it, dialogue is not a debate in legal terms. It is an attempt to cooperate with the indefinable character of man’s whole being, to find out the meaning and dimensions of his own past, to crack a last. It is a search for the answers.

The Mover

He believes that the College Club is the prime mover in this case. It is a challenge to all alumni to look at the present day? or does it simply act as a form of expression to those who are not the people who are on the front line from the preceding generation? Furthermore, it is a challenge to all those who are interested in that it cannot question everything. But would simply like to say, that it is a challenge to all those who are interested in the question whether religion as an institution is a gift-wrapped reproduction of the hundreds of home-town churches from which its members came? Or does it set on the belief that the ideas the college experience is not the function of the College Club is also unique? It is like all the other clubs carrying our religion through life?

If it is just one of a string of thronged meetings, all alike, which we ride effortlessly through the years, or do we have the courage to stay with it? Does it try to unearth the comment rooter? Does it try to struggle to understand knowledge, and not be overwhelmed by the uncertainties which never invade the atmosphere of one of those one-week churchgoer travels?

Perhaps alumni dissatisfaction with Mr. McCon-
By BOB HEWITT

LEWISBURG, Pa. — Led by senior quarterback Ron Giordano, the Bucknell Bison romped over the Leopards, 28-6, before a homecoming crowd of 8,500 here Saturday.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Bison drove 77 yards in six plays in Charlie Thomas hit pay dirt on a reverse with 12 minutes to go in the first quarter. The two-point conversion pass from Giordano to Jeff Connell was good, making the score 8-0.

A kickoff return by John Brown, who returned the ball to the Maroon thirty-seven, got them back on their own thirty. The Maroons, playing in the defensive backfield, placed the ball on the Bison forty, and a personal foul against Bucknell put them back on their own thirty-six yard line.

Bucknell took over, and a personal foul on the Leopards set them up on the nineties. Between a Howard overload and a pass interception, Bucknell rolled out to the fifty yard line and connected with halfback Ray Moyer on the 18, who galloped the remaining yardage to pay dirt. The halfback added a successful point after with Buckroll on top, 14-0.

The second half proved to be all Bucknell, with Giordano completing his third T.D. pass of the game — this one hitting Tyrrell. Giordano had 9 scoring passes, tying the Bucknell Little All-American PaulFeb's record of 1960. Tyrrell, in the meantime, caught six aerials for a 15 yard gain. He then tossed a 52 yard pass covered 52 yards in all. The play covered 52 yards in all. The F.A.T. was unnecessary.

Bucknell scored back, however. Feasibly trapping, Giordano slipped out of the Leopards' grasp for a 13 yard gain. He then tossed to Chris Clements at the Maroon thirty-three yard stripe. Charlie Thomas slipped deep to a 30 yard line, where he connected with Dick Tyrell for 16 yards to the twenty. Steel on the twenty was the result of a pass interference penalty on the Maroons. Dick Katcher scored for Pi Lambda on a screen pass while KDR found the end zone on a pass from Kirby and a 24-6 lead on the board.

Bison Romp Over Leopards 28-6

Behind Giordano's Passing Attack

Bisons drove 77 yards in six plays during Saturday's game with Bucknell.

The Leopards fumbled on the 18, who galloped the remaining yardage to pay dirt. The halfback added a successful point after with Buckroll on top, 14-0.

The second half proved to be all Bucknell, with Giordano completing his third T.D. pass of the game — this one hitting Tyrrell. Giordano had 9 scoring passes, tying the Bucknell Little All-American PaulFeb's record of 1960. Tyrrell, in the meantime, caught six aerials for a 15 yard gain. He then tossed a 52 yard pass covered 52 yards in all. The play covered 52 yards in all. The F.A.T. was unnecessary.

Bucknell scored back, however. Feasibly trapping, Giordano slipped out of the Leopards' grasp for a 13 yard gain. He then tossed to Chris Clements at the Maroon thirty-three yard stripe. Charlie Thomas slipped deep to a 30 yard line, where he connected with Dick Tyrell for 16 yards to the twenty. Steel on the twenty was the result of a pass interference penalty on the Maroons. Dick Katcher scored for Pi Lambda on a screen pass while KDR found the end zone on a pass from Kirby and a 24-6 lead on the board.

After containing the explosive Bucknell attack for two periods, the defense temporarily lost composure at the beginning of the second half when a swift Blue and Gold back broke loose up the middle, cut toward the sideline, and found 3 yard yards for the second Blue and Gold tally. Not a single Leopards defender got his hands on him, as the blocking formed perfectly. Once past the 40 yard line, he had a clear field ahead of him.

Even after this dominating play, the Maroons gridders fought gamely back, driving to the Hen forty at the end of the quarter. This deep penetration was Lafortune's last effective threat of the day, however. Throughout the remainder of the game, the poor execution of the Leopards' offensive plays at times seemed to indicate that the plays had been thought up in the huddle.

However, defensively the Maroons held their own, and were able to keep the Blues from scoring in the final six minutes. In the last five minutes the Hen scored three touchdowns—two on pass interceptions, and a third on a recovered fumble in the end zone.

LAFAYETTE CLEANERS
CATERING TO
MEN OF DISTINCTION
Charge Accounts Free Storage
Plan on premises
517 March St.
National Student Association Helps Train Student Leaders, Sirlin Says

By DAN GOTTSEN

“The United States National Student Association is a voluntary affiliation of college student bodies in every part of our country, and they are associated together to give students the opportunity to experience understanding, leadership, and action,” according to an NSA bulletin.

The NSA helps the campus by making available to the students present in the university groups of the student council, said. This will lead to a more active Student Council which will help to further the school's policies.

The NSA offers free training for student leaders, Sirlin said. It gives them the opportunity to speak with people who are very interested in the subject.

George L. Seibert, Robert Mrazik, and myself have benefited greatly from the NSA program, said Sirlin. Other student council members have benefited from the program as well.

The NSA has a wide scope, national and international. It helps with various student councils by making available to them various information pamphlets.

Discusses Massachusetts Election

Tufts YAF President Calls Ted Kennedy Unqualified

MEDFORD, Mass.—Blair Crawford, president of the Tufts Chapter of Young Americans for Freedom, says that Senator Edward Kennedy's liberal attitude makes him unqualified for the position of Governor of Massachusetts.

Crawford feels that Edward Kennedy is more interested in the liberal socialist, which has policies which are very well done, and that he is very qualified for the position. He also expressed concern over Kennedy's liberal policies.

Crawford said he believes that the YAF is more interested in making better leaders out of the community.

In a letter to Senator Kennedy, Crawford said he believes that the YAF is more interested in making better leaders out of the community.

Crawford said Crawford said he believes that the YAF is more interested in making better leaders out of the community.

Crawford said Crawford said he believes that the YAF is more interested in making better leaders out of the community.

Crawford said Crawford said he believes that the YAF is more interested in making better leaders out of the community.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college, there are some who think they can have it all. They ask, “How can I make my career and personal life successful?”

But for many of today's successful young professionals, the answer is not an easy one. They ask, “How can I balance my career and personal life?”

Many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.

And many of today's successful young professionals are finding it difficult to balance their career and personal life. They are trying to make the most out of their college experience while also focusing on their personal growth.